H. D. FRISBIE.

pledged to assent or fall by a principle which it is clear the American people are not prepared to maintain.

We have always believed, and in these columns have frequently expressed the belief, that this was the rock on which the Republican party would strike and shiver, and successive events have strengthened this persuasion.

Whatever may be just or expedient for the future, there are at present too many voters in this country, not too few; and there are tens of thousands of intelligent men who thoroughly believe this, although they are always quite as ready as they should be to avow their convictions. Justice to the blacks is a good thing, but the nation is evidently not yet ready to assent either to the necessity or the policy of securing that justice at the cost of the liberty of the whites.

The election last year in Ohio, the election we have just witnessed in Kentucky, indicate in the earnest manner the strength and determination of the popular will on this subject. A revolution is in progress which, all blood-less though it may be, promises to be resistless in extent and efficiency.

The people are saying to the Radical extremist in language not to be misunderstood: "Thus far shall you go, but no farther." Freedom for all bondmen: we agree to and insist upon, but we will not agree to a precipitate and indiscriminate bestowal of the cherished privilege of American freedom upon the most ignorant and degraded of the community. We demand that you pause here until the deliberate sense of the whole community shall have been thoroughly tested and fairly expressed."

Hypocrisy always sooner or later begets bitterness, and there cannot be a doubt that, however honest and admirable the motives of many Republicans, there have been some among their most conspicuous leaders and spokesmen who have thought more of reinforcing and perpetuating the power of the party, than of assuring the welfare of the negroes. Amongst this class of men, whether politicians or journalists, there has grown up in the last year or two an intense popular hostility which has led to not a little violence of expression, and which threatens greatly to lighten the aspirer of the Presidential contest.

If, as is now claimed, the blacks in considerable numbers should vote the Democratic ticket, the sincerity of a certain class of Republican politicians will be put to a critical test. On the other hand, the candor of opponents of negro suffrage, who like the Round Table, have disclaimed partisan animus as influencing their opposition, will be tried in a corresponding way. To this, it may be added, we have not the smallest possible objection. We should disbelieve in and protest against present universal negro suffrage just as unreservedly did every colored man in the South vote the Democratic ticket, as we have disbelieved and protested when it has been generally credited that the negro vote would be cast en bloc for the Republicans. We have no faith that good ends in public any more than in private affairs can be attained through illogical, passionate and wrongful means, and we shall be much mistaken if the sturdy common sense of the people does not show in the coming election that they cherish a similar incredulity.

AN EDITOR ASSAULTED.—Mr. Geo.

W. Ranck, editor of the Lexington Observer, was assaulted at Shelbyville, by C. M. Harwood, Esq., a lawyer of that place, and chairman of the Democratic County Committee. The case of the difficulty was an article that appeared in the Observer, written by Mr. R., entitled "Why We Love the Old Louisville Jail," in which he detailed the circumstances of his arrest by the military.

Mr. Ranck was standing near the hotel, conversing with the Rev. C. K.

Marsal, when, Mr. Harwood approaching, said, "Good morning, Mr.

Ranck." To this salutation Mr. R., paid no attention, continuing the conversation with his friend as if regardless of the presence of the other.

Mr. H. then asked Mr. R. if he wrote the article referred to, and if he alluded to him in it, to which Mr. R. replied,

"I certainly did, sir." Mr. H. then said something in regard to the article, that it was wholly false, or something of that kind, when Mr. R. replied, "Very well, then, we will settle the matter as gentlemen usually do, and at some other time." Mr. H. then, as I was informed, struck Mr. R. with a cane; the latter warded off the force of the blow and stepped into a store near by, seized a stick, with which he struck Mr. H. over the head, when they were separated.

Mr. R. says he was unarmed, it is not his custom to carry weapons, and had no intimation that Mr. H. felt aggrieved at the article or would demand satisfaction.

Mr. Ranck in his paper says he did the very best he could under the circumstances, and thinks he will not fail to do the same in future, that he holds himself responsible for his paper, and ready to settle in that mode and way prescribed and adopted by gentlemen.

Ensign Stebbings Redivivus.

We had no idea that the pasquinade of years ago, that caused the town to laugh, in which Stebbings was the embodiment of the military idea of the time, that upheld Scott on the one side and Pierce on the other, would ever be so nearly revived as a verity.

But we copy the Stebbings platform and see how nearly it accords with the Grant platform of the day. It is from the Stebbings official organ—the Carpet Bag of 1852—after the nomination at Sagus in that year:

"Platform adopted by the National Convention at Sagus, which nominated Ensign Stebbings for President.

Art. 1. The Constitution of the United States is that which constitutes.

2. The Army and Navy constitutes us a free people therefore,
